ANGLO-FRENCH UNITY

DEADLOCK SMASHED AT GENEVA

ITALY ACCEPTS TERMS FOR ARBITRATION

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, Aug. 8, 8 a.m.)

Geneva, Aug. 2.
The deadlock between Baron Aloisi, the Italian spokesman, and Mr. Anthony Eden, the British Minister for League Affairs who is championing the League's responsibility in the preservation of the peace between Italy and Abyssinia, has been broken, according to despatches from the secret council rooms of Geneva.

Mr. Eden had been insisting that unless Arbitration Commission intervention and negotiations succeeded by September, the Council of the League must meet and fix the responsibility for failure.

On the appearance of the deadlock, M. Pierre Laval, the French Prime Minister, announced a united Anglo-French front. He intended to break the deadlock.

Later, British, French, Italian and Ethiopian delegates conferred again privately. The Council is prepared to go into arbitration and approve any agreement reached by these four powers, upon whom the real burden of compromise appears to rest.

It was following this four-power conversation that it was officially announced that Italy had accepted the Anglo-French formula, which will be presented to the Council on Saturday.—United Press.

NO ADVANTAGE

Yesterday, United Press reported that Italy had forced a compromise in her favour and that the British and French delegates had more or less given in to the Italian demands for restricted arbitration and delayed League action. This was interpreted as a victory for the Italian diplomats, but the later despatches through the same agency, this time confirmed by Reuter, indicate that the present arrangement is rather a success of Anglo-French persuasion.

Says Reuter:

Complete agreement has been reached upon the League resolution for the continuation of arbitration proceedings between Italy and Abyssinia, Italy having signified her adhesion.—Reuter.

NARROWING DISPUTE

Geneva, Aug. 2.
It is stated in authoritative quarters that the differences between the three principal powers have now narrowed down to such a point that there is every hope for complete agreement being reached to-night.

Contrary to expectations, there was no meeting of the League Council to-night but agreement is drawing nearer. The differences between Italy and Britain have been filed down to minor matters concerning the terms of reference, which are expected to be disposed of shortly.—Reuter.

TEXT OF AGREEMENT

Geneva, August 2.
The draft resolution, which contains the compromise on the Italy-Abyssinian question, will be presented to the League Council meeting this afternoon, after receipt of Abyssinia's official reply to the question whether the draft is acceptable to her.

The text provides for the resumption of conciliation procedure over the Ualul incident, and other frontier incidents and the appointment of a fifth arbitrator on the Arbitration Commission. It also provides for a subsequent meeting of the League Council on September 4, which will discuss the whole subject.

ABIDE BY TREATY

The second portion of the resolution refers to the Council's resolution of May 28 regarding the settlement of the dispute which was agreed to along the lines set down by Article Five of the Treaty of 1925. (This is the

ITALY QUICKENS MOBILISATION

SHIPS OFF TO AFRICA

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, August 2, 1.15 a.m.)

Rome, Aug. 2.
Italy will soon have four complete fighting classes mobilised, comprising nearly 900,000 men. Two more Army divisions and the remainder of the 1912 class will be mobilised to-morrow, it was officially announced.

This means respective additions to the fighting units of the country at present under arms of 30,000 and 150,000 men. Meanwhile, three ships conveying troops and war materials to East Africa departed from Naples to-day. Another twelve are loading at speed.—United Press.

FURTHER MOBILISATION

It is learned in most reliable quarters that the Government will issue a communique on Saturday announcing mobilisation of an additional four divisions of troops. These are for service in Britain and Italian Somaliland to 236,000 men. The communique will also disclose the naval construction programme at present contemplated by the Italian Government.—United Press.

BLACKSHIRTS CALLED

Rome, Aug. 2.
One or more divisions of Blackshirts are about to be called to the colours.

Their mobilisation is regarded as probable before the conclusion of the Geneva session of the Council of the League of Nations in order to emphasize Italy's intention to proceed with her plans in Africa regardless of the League, or interference from any other source.—Reuter.

manner in which the proposed declaration about non-recourse to force has been circumvented).

Finally, M. Maxim Litvinoff, President of the Council, at to-day's meeting will read a declaration of Britain, France and Italy that they agree to negotiate under the terms of the 1925 Treaty.—Reuter.

HOARE'S SPEECH "DASTARDLY"

RESENTMENT IN ITALY

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, August 2, 1.15 a.m.)

Rome, August 2.
A further threat that Italy may abandon the League of Nations was made by "Gayda" in the Giornale d'Italia to-day.

This was a direct outcome of Sir Samuel Hoare's speech to the House of Commons yesterday, in which the Foreign Minister outlined Britain's policy, saying in part: "We must re-examine our resources and see that Britain is brave enough to have a firm policy for peace, and also strong enough to insist that the world as a whole respect it."

The writer in the Italian newspaper describes Sir Samuel's address as "dastardly."

The writer asked whether the Foreign Minister's concluding allusions to Britain's strength, quoted above, were intended to have any sinister application or were intimidatory manoeuvres against Italy.—Reuter Special.

ALMOST AN INSULT

Rome, August 2.
The Giornale d'Italia terms the Foreign Minister's speech in the House of Commons on British policy yesterday as "malevolent and irremediable."

The speech of Sir Samuel Hoare corresponded, says this journal, to outward hostility, which characterises British policy.

It was almost an insult, the paper adds.—United Press.

Speakership Problem

LLOYD GEORGE OFFER OF ASSISTANCE

COMPROMISE POSSIBLE

London, Aug. 2.

A constitutional question of some difficulty with reference to the Speakership of the House of Commons has been occupying the attention of the Government and Parliamentarians in recent weeks.

The constitutional convention, which, with rare exceptions, has been observed in recent history, is that a member chosen as Speaker is not opposed in his constituency by candidates of other parties during his term of office. In this way, the judicial attitude of the chair is safeguarded from the embarrassment of an electoral contest. Local politicians, however, in constituencies represented by the Speaker have chafed at their enforced inactivity and have claimed that the rule amounted to disenfranchisement.

In the case of the present Speaker, Captain Fitzroy, the local Labour Party in Daventry, for which he sits, has decided to nominate a candidate at the next General election, and the candidate has been approved by the National Executive while the Labour Party in conference has suggested alterations in the law to provide that the Speaker, on election, should not continue to be in the case.

night. (Later reports state no meeting was held). The chief difficulty in the way of settlement comes from Britain, who is insisting that the League of Nations shall be associated with the negotiations proposed under the 1925 treaty to which Britain, France and Italy are co-signatories. (Later despatches disclose that a settlement has been reached and indicate that Britain, backed by France, won concessions from Italy with respect to the League's responsibility for

PARTISAN DISPUTES

(Special to "Telegraph")

Washington, August 2.
Reporting on the current developments in Congress, Lyle Lilson, the United Press Washington correspondent, says that the major New Deal bills are being harassed from every side.

Their future, he says, is definitely endangered by partisan and personal disputes as a frayed Congress pushes its way towards adjournment.

Firstly the Wheeler-Rayburn Bill may die in conference due to the hopeless deadlock over the "death sentence" clause for the holding Berlin, August 2.

In order to get ahead of the United States, Great Britain and Holland, who are all making efforts to start a North Atlantic air service, the German Luft-hansa Company is arranging for the stationing of two floating aerodromes, the Westphalen and the Schwaben, in Northern waters.

For some time past they have been used in the South Atlantic on experimental work and for practical service. The Luft-hansa will probably commence its trans-Atlantic schedule from Germany to America in the Autumn.—Reuter.

companies. However, in this respect the Administration is still clinging to a hope of salvaging some form of utility regulation.

Secondly, the passage of the Tax Bill in the House of Representatives has been delayed by the Republican filibuster which has forced the Democrats to agree to a postponement of the hearing of the Bill till Monday. Proponents of inflation and bonus payments however, are unable to co-ordinate in strength, hence the Tax Bill will come to the Senate as a divided bill instead of as a bill from the House.

Thirdly, the Central Bank Bill faces a complicated inter-house difficulty when it goes to conference.

Fourthly, there is considerable strife over the A.A.A. amendment, whether to permit suits for the recovery of gold deposits against the Government being modified to permit suits for six months.

Parliament Expected To Re-Assemble

OPPOSITION LOOKING FOR ELECTION

MINISTERS DISPERSE

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, August 2, 1.30 a.m.)

London, Aug. 2.
There is just a possibility that the present Parliament will not re-assemble on October 29, the date to which it has been adjourned.

The Prime Minister could recommend His Majesty in the meantime to dissolve Parliament and have a General Election, which the Opposition is convinced will be held before the end of the year, but Ministerialists discount this idea, and the chances are that Parliament will meet beforehand, not improbably some time before October 29.

Meanwhile, Ministers are dispersing in all directions. Mr. Baldwin, as usual, is going to Aix-les-Bains, and in his absence Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, who is going to Looe, will be Deputy Prime Minister.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will also go abroad, to Switzerland, for part of his holiday, while Sir John Simon, Home Secretary, will go golfing in North Berwick until he relieves Mr. J.H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, as Minister in attendance on the King at Balmoral. Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, remains in England until he goes to Geneva at the beginning of September.—Reuter Special.

FIGHT FOR GUILDER

HOLLAND'S PLANS FOR STABILITY

The Hague, Aug. 2.

The people of the Netherlands hold the fate of the guilder in their own hands, for its future depends upon the extent to which they remain tranquil and disciplined, declared Dr. Collin, the Prime Minister, broadcasting to the nation to-day.

He said the Government would inquire into the practicability of measures advocated for stimulating national economy through large scale public works and fostering industrialization of the country.

The new extra-Parliamentary Cabinet had no conflict with Parliament, he said, whose collaboration it was confident of securing in a common programme which the Cabinet would presently submit.

AMERICAN SILVER STABILITY

HEAVY SPECULATION HAZARDOUS

BUT PRICE UNLIKELY TO CRUMBLE

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, Aug. 3, 9 a.m.)

Washington, Aug. 2.
The recent silver stability in New York is occasioning much comment.

Experts believe that the United States purchases will continue consistently, although perhaps not sensationally.

They assert that developments have shown that heavy speculation for drastic rises in price are hazardous, due to the Treasury Department's secrecy. Conversely, the position of President Roosevelt and his recent utterances respecting the Administration's policy precludes the likelihood of any substantial decline in the American price of the white metal.—United Press.

URGES PURCHASE

Washington, August 2.
Senator Elmer Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma to-day issued a statement wherein he asserted that the United States must purchase 1,000,000 ounces of silver at US$1.00 per ounce to fulfil their silver purchase programme.

Senator Thomas also urged the repeal of the fifty per cent. tax on silver transaction profits on the grounds that this tax destroyed the New York market and gave the business and profits to London.

Also he said that the tax was instrumental in giving foreigners the business of refining bullion as well as the business of shipping and insuring silver acquired abroad for the United States.

Further he said that it was destroying American banking business by making the Federal Reserve the sole Government agent and that it had the effect of revealing the United States Treasury's silver operations to foreign speculators and governments who are opposed to the United States financial policies.—United Press.

SIR E. TEICHMAN RETIRING

MR. A. D. BLACKBURN AS SUCCESSOR

Shanghai, Aug. 3.
The North China Daily News understands that Sir Eric Teichman, Counsellor at Peking since 1927, who is about to go home on furlough preparatory to retirement, will be succeeded by Mr. A. D. Blackburn, at present Consul in Shanghai.

It is expected that Mr. Blackburn will leave for Peking at the end of August, his place in Shanghai being taken by Mr. J. W. O. Davidson, Consul at Hankow.—Reuter.

"England is only a small country, but is better than any other," and he is alleged to have said that this was a bold statement. The teacher staunchly defended this sentiment whereupon the inspector is said to have told the teacher that she was teaching old-fashioned imperialism.

The Minister of Education traversed Sir Gerald Hurst's version, and declared that the inspector is an ex-Serviceman who won a commission from the ranks, was twice wounded, and his patriotism unquestionable. Labourites would describe his views as old-fashioned.

The Minister further stated that the inspector's remarks to the teacher did not correspond to what Sir Gerald Hurst had said. There had been no question of a rebuke by the inspector, and no disciplinary action was necessary.

The Labourite, Mr. Morgan Jones, himself an ex-teacher, accepted the Minister's explanation and criticised the stunt treatment of the incident by the Press and their most un-English way of pillorying the inspector.—Reuter Special.

London, Aug. 2.
An essay by a 12-year-old school girl, of which a facsimile has been reproduced in the newspapers, engaged the attention of the House of Commons for an hour and a quarter to-day.

Maud Mason, the heroine of the occasion, is a pupil of a church school for poor children in the working-class district of Manchester, and she, together with her parents and the head mistress of the school, listened to the debate.

The debate was started by Sir Gerald Hurst, who made reference to the unfortunate comment alleged to have been passed during a visit by an inspector to the girl's class, owing to the patriotic sentiments contained in the girl's Jubilee Essay on "My Native Land."

The inspector read out a passage from the essay stating that

Winston Churchill Adviser
On Air Picture

FLIGHT HISTORY

Visitors to Alexander Korda's studio at Worton Hall, where John Monk Saunders is directing "The Conquest of the Air," will find a notable figure acting as supervisor—Mr. Winston Churchill, engaged to advise on that section of the film that deals with Britain's achievements in the world of flight.

"The Conquest of the Air" will tell the story of man's attempt to fly from prehistorical times to the present day.

We meet the man at Nero's court who rashly attempted to imitate a bird, and put on a show that Nero summed up in the remark that it was "very diverting but quick entertainment; and now how about the chariots?"

We see Leonardo's experiments and his forecast of the propeller; de Rozier's first flight with a balloon; the crossing of the Channel in a balloon by Blanchard and Jeffries in 1785; the growth of the flying craze and the superstitious fear aroused in simple country people, who, on occasion, attacked a balloon with pitchforks in the belief that it was some sort of living enemy. Next is shown the use of the balloon to convey messages from besieged Paris during the Franco-Prussian War.

Then a Frenchman's experiment with a steam engine, the coming of the internal combustion engine, experiments by Maxim and Edison, the flights of men like the Wright brothers, and finally the spectacular combats of the war and the conquest of the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Every episode has been chosen by the script writers, Mr. Saunders and Mr. Hugh Gray, for its intrinsic, dramatic, or comic value, as well as for its place in the history of aviation. The film promises to be one of the most interesting productions ever made.

CINEMA COMPANY FINED

Associated British Cinemas, of Golden Square, London, were fined £5 and £5 costs at Bournemouth, recently, for failing to comply with the Cinematograph Films Act of 1927, which requires them to show 15 per cent. of British films.

Mr. W. S. Bourne, prosecuting for the Board of Trade, said the company were the second-largest exhibitors, having 100 theatres in different parts of the country, and were also the second-largest producers of British films. During the year ended September 30 last the company exhibited at the Carlton Cinema, Bournemouth, of long films 12.8 per cent., and of all films the same percentage, of British works—a very considerable shortage. This concerned their shortage of a quota of films shown not only in this theatre but in other parts of the country.

On behalf of the company, who pleaded guilty, it was stated that between head office and the cinemas differences were bound to occur, and the solicitor's contention was that the company were unable to ensure that the returns from the

A delicious savoury for summer evenings. Peel a firm cucumber and grate it finely. Sprinkle with a little salt and pepper, and leave to drain while you are preparing the other ingredients.

Separate the yolks and whites of three eggs and beat the yolks with half teaspoonful dry mustard, a little paprika, one oz. grated Parmesan cheese and half pint whipped cream. This is a delicious way of serving cucumber. Required: One large or two small cucumbers, two oz. melted butter, one onion, parsley, one teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful sugar, one tablespoonful cream, lemon juice, slices of toast, dash of pepper.

Peel the cucumber, cut in four lengthwise strips, or into eight if too long. Remove all spongy parts. Steam very gently till soft.

CAREER FORCED UPON HIM

Herbert Marshall admits frankly that he hated acting and the stage, but literally was forced into it.

"And," he explained in an interview, "I can truthfully say that for years I did not make an effort to advance on the stage."

After completing his schooling, Marshall became a clerk in a firm of accountants. At 21 he accepted a job as assistant treasurer with a touring company. Later, in an effort to economise, the manager of the troupe ruled that Marshall do double duty. He must play a small role in their shows to save engaging another actor. Marshall had no choice. It was either that or no job at all. And so, playing a man-servant role in "The Adventure of Lady Ursula," Herbert Marshall started his stage career.

FULL-FLEDGED STAR

Bette Davis has been created a full-fledged star by First National Pictures.

This distinction, which carries with it the privilege of having her name above the titles of the pictures she plays in, has been given her as a reward for her performances in recent productions, such as "Bordertown" and "Of Human Bondage." She was third in the list of the ten best actresses of 1934, chosen by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Bette Davis was a Broadway star before beginning her screen career. Her first screen success was with George Arliss, in "The Silent Voice."

INFANTA OF PORTUGAL

CHARITY WORK AS PROFESSION

ARDUOUS LABOUR

By PHYLLIS CHISHOLM

Vienna.

I have discovered a real princess who voluntarily gets up at five o'clock every morning.

She is the pretty 25-year old Infanta of Portugal, Princess Marie Adelheid of Braganza. Her brother, Don Duarte, became Pretender to the throne of Portugal three years ago on the death of Ex-King Manuel.

Princess Marie is attending a charity school here, modelled on English and American lines, in order to soon take up charity work as a profession.

She asked me to come and visit her at her apartment where she is staying with a countess. A true daughter of the south, she has a beautiful face; the pale-olive skin making a striking contrast to the dark soft eyes with their thick black lashes and eyebrows, while her crisp black hair brushed straight back from a low intellectual forehead gives her all the appearance of a boy.

A lovable personality, charming and frank in conversation with an excellent command of English, she is a most democratically-minded princess and has grown to love the poorer classes for whom she works.

"I see humanity in its worst suffering," she said. "It needs a great deal of strength to keep it from depressing me, and if I did not get back in the evenings to my people, I don't know from where I would get the courage to keep it up each day."

ARDUOUS TASK

With so many married sisters, I wondered why this little princess should have tackled such an arduous task as charity worker, but she is very anxious to be able to look after herself in life since the death of both her parents. She answered the question herself:

"Being a member of a Royal house," she said, "there are not very many professions open to me. I had to choose carefully that it would be something not too public."

Charities in Austria are financed by the State and professional charity work is not easy. The hours are long and strenuous necessitating constant association with the suffering and poverty of the poor.

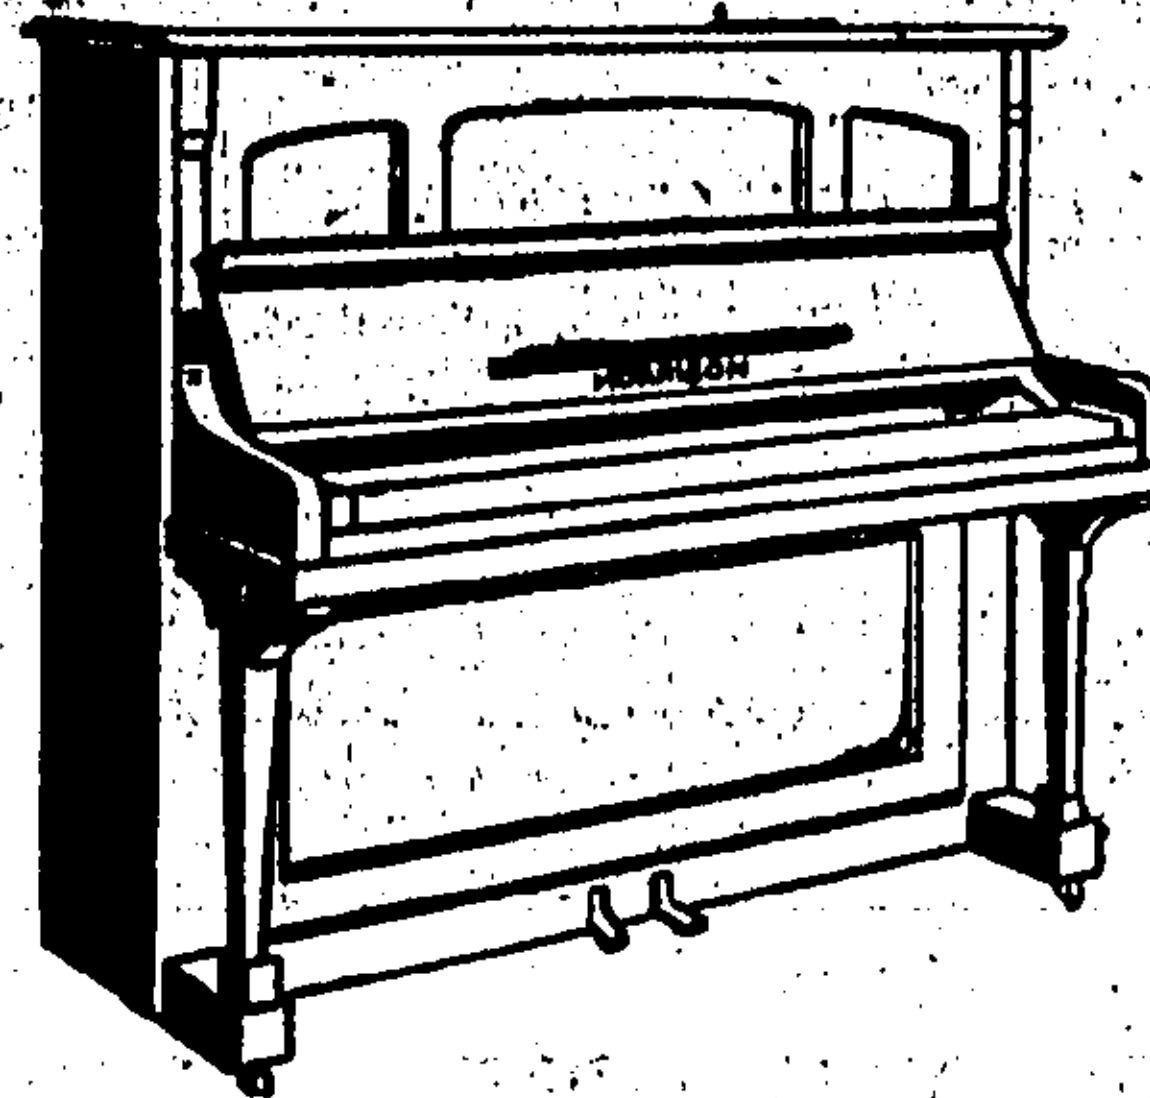

Princess Marie has had to be up at five o'clock in the morning supervising institutions for children and during the day nursing sick cases among the working classes, which often entails cleaning and tidying their rooms as well as efficient nursing.

She has already passed her degree in anatomy, psychology, first aid, nursing and medicine.

A lover of country life and the mountains she has been brought up in, Infanta Marie returns to her home, Castle Sobenstein in Lower Austria for the summer.

The Welsh terriers she breeds there are well known in Austria and have taken many prizes at international dog shows.

CRAWLING ABOUT WITH LUMBAGO

Felt Like an Old Woman

Here is some useful information for anyone troubled with that uncomfortable complaint, lumbago. A woman writes:—

"For years I suffered from lumbago. During wet weather, I could only turn in bed with great effort and pain. I was so stiff and ached so much. Two years ago I had both lumbago and sciatica, and crawled about for a fortnight, feeling very sorry for myself and looking 102 instead of 33. Someone said, 'Try Kruschen Salts,' so I did, and I have taken them ever since, with the result that I hardly ever get a hint of lumbago these days."—(Mrs.) G. P. C.

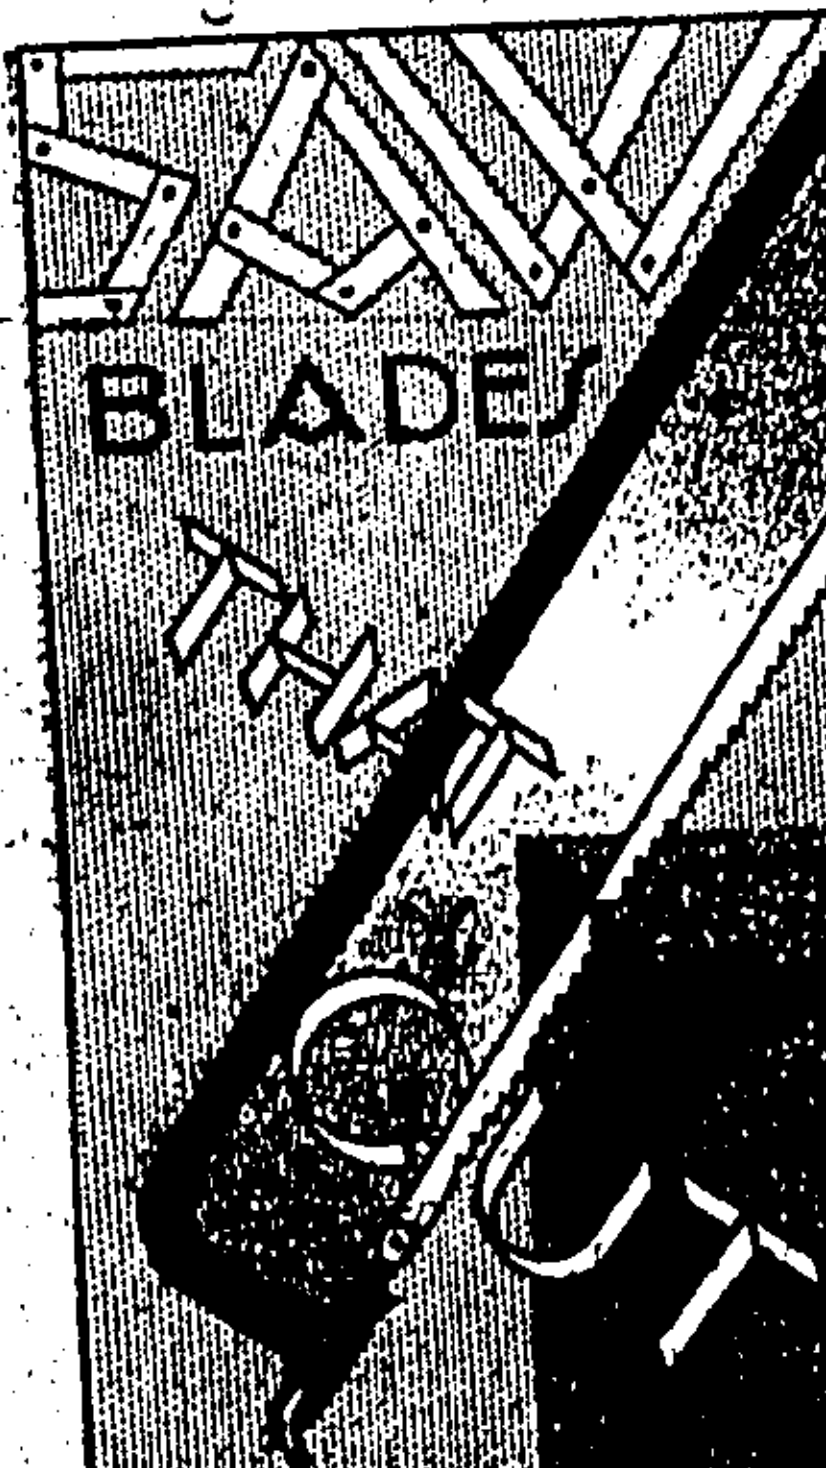

Why is it that Kruschen is so effective in keeping lumbago at bay? Simply because it goes right down to the root of the trouble and removes the cause, which is an impure blood-stream. The six salts in Kruschen keep the blood-stream pure and vigorous by promoting a clockwork regularity of all the organs of elimination.

Personal cleanliness demands arms and legs to be free of superfluous hair. KRUSCHEN is the quickest, surest and safest hair remover obtainable in the market.

EUROPE NEARS BRINK OF DISASTER

BY MORRIS GILBERT

IT is August 3, 1914, and the muddled hates of Europe are drawing to an ominous climax which eventually is to plunge most of the world into armed conflict. Austria and Serbia already are at war, and Germany has declared against Russia. All nations are mobilising for any desperate eventuality. German patrols already are in French territory.

An August 3, 1914, war map of Europe. In black: Germany and Austria-Hungary. Dotted: The original Allies. In white: Neutral countries.

Italy, and Germany formally has demanded free passage of her troops through Belgium. King Albert has rejected the ultimatum and Great Britain has protested it. England is seething with news of the intended violation of neutrality, and the Grand Fleet is at Scapa Flow.

The awful uncertainty does not endure much longer. Berlin—War declared on France.

Paris—War declared on Germany.

London—At midnight, the cabinet was sitting, in expectation of receiving a response from the Wilhelmstrasse to the British note.

None having arrived, Great Britain declared war on the German Empire under date of August 4, 1914. On the same date, formal declaration of war against Belgium was pronounced by Germany.

The World War was under way.

Vienna.

The Pretender to the throne of Portugal, Don Duarte, is quietly studying political economy and military sciences at the Vienna University, hoping some day to become King of his country, the United Press learns.

Deprived of his family's estates in Portugal, which it is said the late Ex-king Manuel bequeathed to Portugal, Don Duarte is living on a scanty income given him by devoted Monarchist supporters.

His elder half-brother, who renounced all claims to the throne when he married an American, Anita Stewart, died some time ago.

A relative of Don Duarte told the United Press that the Pretender once worked his way all through Portugal disguised as a chauffeur.

Life in exile has not been easy for him and his sisters. They are related to half the aristocracy in Austria, the reigning Prince of Liechtenstein placed one of his 77 castles—Schloss Sebesten not far from Vienna—at their disposal.

Here they went in for agriculture, Don Duarte having passed an agricultural course at the Toulouse University for this purpose. The princesses all helped with the chicken farm, vegetable and fruit growing.

LACK OF FOOD

During the war, the food shortage in Austria was an acute problem for them. Equipped with knapsacks, the princesses used to walk to the surrounding villages to obtain the little amount of food allowed by the government ration cards. But the cards were easier to get than the food, and they eventually had to make bread themselves out of wild chestnuts.

The effects of a cold and weakness due to this under-nourishment caused the death of Princess Matilda in 1918.

Three elder sisters married three Princes of Thurn and Taxis, one of them worked for a while in the Viennese police Department under Schobor, late Chancellor of Austria, another, Princess Maria Antonia married an American, Mr. Ashley Chandler, of the "Daily" (Tarrytown, New York) and the youngest, Princess Maria Theresa, 23 years of age, is now studying law at the Vienna School of Law.

Marion and Margaret Hepburn, sisters of the famous Katherine, with their mother, arrive in London.

NEW MINISTER

KOWLOON UNION CHURCH EXTENDS CALL

That a unanimous call be extended to the Rev. John Donald MacLean, of the Congregational Union of Scotland, to become the new minister of the Union Church, Kowloon, was agreed upon by over thirty members of the Church congregation at an extraordinary meeting held last night.

Mr. A. W. Ingram, chairman of the Committee of Management, who presided, said:

"I come here to-night with the personal testimony that we are contemplating news from London of our prospective minister. The committee has communicated with Dr. S. M. Barry, Secretary of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, and men like Mr. J. L. Macpherson, Mr. J. B. Ross and Mr. Frank Short. "Prior to this meeting, your Committee of Management discussed the application and credentials of the Rev. J. D. MacLean, and being a congregational gathering we want to bring before you the recommendation of the Committee, and I trust that assurance that we are doing the right thing in extending a unanimous call to the Rev. MacLean."

Mr. H. Noble, the hon. Secretary, then read out the application and credentials of the Rev. MacLean who, he said, was free to come out at any time.

Church Future Assured
The Chairman said he felt the future of the Church was quite assured if the congregation would agree to extend a unanimous call. "I think it is the right," he said, "of every member here to-night to pledge himself or herself that we should do so, for I am quite certain that throughout Kowloon there are a great many people who are interested in the decision of this meeting. It would be a rash act if we do not go forward because the testimonials of the Rev. Mr. MacLean prove positively that he is the man for the job. I have no hesitation in agreeing with the evidence, providing this meeting is willing."

After several members had expressed themselves in agreement with the recommendation of the Committee, the Chairman put forward the following motion: "That the Rev. J. D. MacLean be accorded a unanimous call to the Union Church, Kowloon."

The motion was carried amidst acclamation.

It was also agreed that the new minister should arrive at the end of October.

New Pastor's Career

The Rev. John Donald MacLean is an ordained minister of the Congregational Order and has been in charge of a congregation in Nairn for almost four years. He is 28 years of age and was married eighteen months ago. His wife, according to the testimonials, is a woman of personality, and is greatly interested in the work of her husband.

Prior to taking up his work in Nairn, Mr. MacLean held Student Assistantships in St. Kenneth's Church, Govan, Glasgow, which position in the chaplaincy to the Bellshouston Ministry of Pensions Hospital, Cathcart Parish Church, Glasgow; Larbert Parish Church; and was locum tenens in the New Ardrossan Parish Church, Ayrshire, in Rhynedd Church, Ballisodoun, in Arts and Theological training were he qualified for the ministry of the Presbyterian Church but for various reasons entered the Congregational Church.

He has been a member of the Nairn Town Council of Moray and Nairn for two years during which time he served on the Inspection Committee to H. M. Prison, Inverness. He is greatly interested in the Scout movement, having been Scout Master and Chaplain of the 1st Nairnshire Company.

The testimonials which accompanied his application and which were supplied by several senior ministers, as well as famous personalities in connection with Church work, spoke highly of his capabilities and his qualifications as an eloquent preacher.

SATURDAY, AUG. 3, 1935

THE GOVERNORSHIP OF HONGKONG

The North China Daily News would appear to be flogging a dead horse in urging that a statesman of pre-eminent qualifications should be appointed to the vacant Governorship of Hongkong. The purpose of the suggested change is that the new Governor, who would have extended responsibilities, should assume the duties of rappporteur to the British Government on events in the Pacific, for the due guidance of British policy in the Far East. The idea is by no means a new one, but it fails to take account of realities, has been shown impracticable in the past, and is certainly not likely to be put into effect. Hongkong is, and will remain, under the Colonial Office, for the simple reason that it is a Colony; it obviously cannot be placed under the Foreign Office, which any such plan as that propounded by our contemporary would necessitate. Any idea of linking the Governorship of this Colony with the British diplomatic services in China and Japan fails to take account of the dominant fact that Hongkong exists merely as shipping port, a clearing house for the South China markets. It has no political significance, and is not concerned with Chinese politics except insofar as these may affect our purely commercial relations with China. The criticism that, with a muddled sense of defeatism and self-sufficiency, we have adopted a policy of myopic aloofness, is without justification. Our China contacts are with Canton, and it can be said that never have the relationships of the two centres been on a happier and more satisfactory footing than they are to-day. We can therefore refute the inference that this Colony is not greatly concerned in the fostering of Sino-British friendship. Our alleged "myopic aloofness" is, indeed, far less real than the effects of the "Shanghai Mind," which has not always conducted to the encouragement of amicable relations between Britain and China. On the general issue raised, there is no present circumstance nor any future contingency which would warrant any departure from Colonial Office control of Hongkong nor point to the necessity

NOTES OF THE DAY

AMERICA'S BUSINESS

There could probably be no more appropriate time than the end of the fiscal year to appraise the American business situation. The United States has become a land of tremendous fiscal deficits. These have one end in view—to "prime the business pump," as the saying goes, and thus transfer the burden of supporting the jobless from the exchequer to private enterprise. Economic activity is a trifling affair consisting of production, distribution and consumption. The chief factor to appraise is production. And, normally, it is a reflex of the entire economic scene. For, if consumption is lagging, then the effect will be felt immediately in distribution and ultimately by production. Not for long will industry turn out goods when consumers are lacking. In this respect the low point in the depression was reached in July, 1932, when industrial production had sunk as low as 58 per cent. of the 1923-1925 average. This may seem surprising to those who do not follow statistics, yet it is a fact. In the following March, which most people associate with the country's "lows," the index was a point higher, or 59. Evidently the country had touched rock bottom in midsummer of 1932. It was the long agony of scraping it that created those disturbances which snapped public confidence, causing the run on the banks.

HOPE REVIVED

With the change in administrations, hope, so long deferred, began to return. The index of industrial output reflected it. From 59 per cent., production shot up to the 1923-1925 level, or 100, a rise in four months of almost 70 per cent. Never before had there been such a sharp rebound. It was too fast, however, to be healthy. Here the industrial index could not be regarded as a true barometer of economic progress. The advance was connected with all kinds of adventitious circumstances. It was the result of the hope (or fear) of inflation, coupled with the haste of industrialists to create stocks in hand before the advent of N.R.A. standards. Two years have since elapsed. But the index has never again touched that point, and at present is 86 per cent. of the 1923-1925 level.

NOT SATISFACTORY

No stretch of language will allow the unbiased observer to call such a result satisfactory. It is even less satisfactory than it looks. For the 86 per cent. status is not wholly the work of the industrial process. It is partly the result of Government pump priming. This is felt particularly in the consumer industries. Work relief is intended to distribute the maximum amount in wages. These will be spent in the necessities supplied by the consumer-goods industries. For an example of what unaided private business is doing, a specimen index is the value of private building contracts. Work relief will not enable any recipient to buy new houses. The following table gives the figure of residential contracts for May, coupled with the corresponding figures for 1934 and 1926:

1935	$ 44,902,000
1934	$ 24,840,000
1926	$224,588,000

It will be seen that in this department a great deal of ground has to be covered before the 1926 ground is recaptured. But, as with other statistics, the low point has been passed. By far the most important index of the state of business is confidence. Yet this cannot be reduced to any figure. It is apparent, however, that in this respect there has been a great improvement over the record of 1932 and 1933. The farm population has been filled with new hope as well as new purchasing power. People in general feel that the depression is past. No longer are they looking into an abyss from which they see no return. This qualitative index is better than the quantitative one. On the May count the jobless still numbered 9,711,000. But, with better feeling in evidence, business is primed with the first desideratum for re-employing them.

of enlarging the scope of the Governorship. Nor is there any reason for thinking that such a change is likely; indeed, it is to be assumed that the Colonial Office has already made up its mind as to who shall succeed Sir William Peel, and that the new appointee will be from the Colonial service. If contact between the Hongkong Government and the diplomatic service in the East is necessitated by special circumstances, the machinery already exists for such exchange of views as may be called for.

SOME DRIVEL THAT DELIGHTS

By REX LONDON

EVER since Nero (locally known as "the Crooning Violinist") treated the populace to his rendering of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," every man, woman, and child has been convinced that he or she could write a popular song. Nor are they wrong, for a song's popularity is no criterion of its quality of construction, but rather of the appeal it has for the public's mind. During the war there was a song which was born in the gutter, and never rose above that state, yet it was chanted by millions of urchins. It was sung to the tune of "Red-wing," and it ran:—

When the moon shines bright on Charlie Chaplin,
His boots are cracking—for want of blacking,
And his little baggy trousers, they want mending,
Before they send him—to the Dardanelles.

Its author's mind was entirely unhampered by the questionable rhymes of Chaplin and cracking, or mending and send him, nevertheless he had created a popular song, whose singers could visualise the redoubtable Charlie conducting a lone, moonlight raid upon the Turkish forces, in his torn trousers and broken boots, armed only with his little whangee cane. In short, the successful lyric lies in the picture it awakes in the bosom.

Most amateur song-writers find the question of rhyming to be the snag of their efforts, but this is an entirely unnecessary fear, for most professional song-writers possess a rhyming dictionary, which can be purchased by anyone for the sum of fifteen shillings. This useful adjunct saves hours of labour because it gives every conceivable rhyme for all the words you know and hundreds of words you have probably never heard of.

But there are words for which no rhyme has been found—for example, Wednesday. If by chance you can think of one, you may copyright it and repeat it to yourself the whole day long and part of Thursday as well. Needless to say, there are sophisticated writers who are not above rhyming it in this manner:—

The dance we held on Wednesday night
Was greatly to our friend's delight.

But these people are to be avoided rather than copied. Far better to take simpler rhymes, as did the writer of "Tea for Two" when he made the young prospective bride assure her future spouse that "Day will break

And I'll awake,
And start to bake
A sugar cake
For you to take
For all your friends to see."

There you have a man who brought song-writing to its simplest form by slicing half a page from the rhyming dictionary, and at the same time thrilling the hearts of all prospective brides with the thought of their husbands, being awakened at dawn by a smell of cooking—other than the usual bacon—and upon being shown the result of same, taking the warm cake up to town by the 8.39 and holding up the markets while he displayed his wife's confection to all his friends in the middle of Throgmorton Street.

Having disposed of the difficulty of rhyming, the next thing is to choose a subject, and the popular song calls for a popular subject. Hoses, mothers, and home always been hot favourites, while desert love, hot-rhythm, and babies can be reckoned as good runners. Occasionally the "baby song" beats the lot and comes in first, but this is because he is an unusual infant, who has either had a busy day or was born a crooner who goes, Boo, boo, boo.

Weather conditions, such as sunshine, clouds of grey, or rain are possible, but fogs (gentleman lost in same) should not be used for many months to come. Domestic animals, such as dogs, cats, or father, contrary to expectations, have not found favour; nor is it wise to try to find an original subject—firstly, because the public are conservative; and, secondly, because the chances are that it is not original at all.

Having chosen your subject, you need a catchy title. If it is a hot-rhythm number, a title such as "Fidgety Feet" would not be amiss; while for a fox-trot ballad, "Moonlight and Memories," conveys the gist of the idea. It is unwise to choose the problematical title, such as "June in January," because one has to read the words before one understands what caused the seasonal transfer.

Songs about tears should be written for the female gender only, because it is not British for a gentleman to dance with tears in his eyes, 'cos the girl in his arms isn't his. In such circumstances the Briton would probably stop the band and ask for a Paul Jones and thus remedy the matter right away; which brings us to the vexed question of British v. American song-writers; but as this question only vexes the British song-writer, we won't dwell upon it.

Having fixed upon a title, we now come to construction. This is simplified by the fact that most popular songs are constructed by dividing the chorus into four parts: parts 1 and 2 being almost identical; a slight variation being introduced into part 3, and then repeating the first phrase for part 4, to wit—Valse Tempo.

CHORUS

1. Roses—will always remind me of you,
For roses—are emblems of love.
2. Roses—will always remind me of you
As they grow—on the arbour above.
3. Your lips are like petals,
Your smile bright and gay,
Like a butterfly settles
And then flies away.
4. Roses—will always remind me of you,
For a rose is the emblem—of love.

Of course, most song-writers could write that slush with their left hand while they worked out a crossword puzzle with their right hand, but the fact remains that even worse songs than this have been sung by people who were old enough to know better.

You will probably say that it is the melody that makes it possible. The answer to that is that nothing should have made it possible, which brings us to the further question: Is it the words or the music that make for a song's success? One waggish composer answered this by saying—"Well, I've never

VERDICT OF SUICIDE

ROYLANCE INQUEST CONCLUDED

After listening to evidence that took nearly six hours to hear in the inquiry into the death of Inspector G. E. Roylance, the jury, retiring for only five minutes, brought in a verdict of suicide by drinking lysol. They were not in the position to express an opinion as to his state of mind.

During yesterday's hearing, evidence was given by Mr. H. E. Lanepart, who was severely reprimanded by the Coroner Mr. Wynne-Jones, who advised him to "give true evidence and not advertise yourself."

The jury were Messrs. W. Sharp (Foreman), L. J. Castilho and L. G. V. Ribeiro.

The widow of the late Sanitary Inspector Roylance, Mrs. Emily Irene Roylance, entered the witness box and gave evidence that she and Inspector Roylance had been married since September, 1914. Her husband had been married before, but had no children.

Coroner: You had three children, I understand?

Mrs. Roylance: Yes, the eldest boy, George, is 20 and is working, the girl, Noeleen is 18, and Desmond is 16.

Was your husband a Catholic?

—He became a Catholic when he married his first wife.

In recalling the incidents which took place on Sunday, July 7, Mrs. Roylance said:

"I left the house at 6.15 a.m. to go to the Rosary Church. I tried to call my husband but he did not wake. I was late and returned home about 8.40 a.m. My husband was still not up. He told me he had had his breakfast."

"About 9 a.m. he left for work. Then I had my breakfast, lay down and at 10.30 a.m. had a bath. A little later, I heard him calling out 'See, I have brought you some strowed and washing soap.'"

"I went out to the verandah and saw him drinking beer. I asked him not to drink so much but he said he would carry on. He then had a third bottle, said he wanted to go to sleep and so I helped him into bed. Soon afterwards, he wanted to see Inspector Brewer. I advised him not to go out and struggled to put him back to bed."

"I think he then asked for rum. I told him he had drunk enough. He said if he could not drink that he would take something else."

"Took Down Lysol Bottle"

"He then rushed to the bathroom and came out holding a bottle of lysol. I struggled with him, put it back on a shelf in the bathroom and then, feeling faint, lay down for a few minutes on my bed which is on the verandah."

"I heard him moving about and coughing and when I got up, I found him lying on the sitting-room floor, blue in the face. I called the 'boy' and told him to get the Police and a doctor as 'Master is very ill.'"

In answer to the Coroner, witness said that her husband did not try to drink the lysol when he first got it from the bathroom.

Continuing she said, "I called my husband but he did not answer. The lysol bottle was lying half full by his right side. I do not think there was a cork in the bottle. I picked it up, in case he might try to drink it again, and put it back in the bathroom."

"I told the boy to go upstairs for help. When I returned to the sitting room, I found that my husband was dead. I ran out to call for help, couldn't shout, so sat on the door-step and cried. Only the amah, the 'boy' and myself were in the house at the time."

"Mr. Pinna arrived first, and then my son, the ambulance and various people arrived."

The Previous Day

"My husband and I had not quarrelled very much that morning. The previous night, he came home at 6 p.m., asked for his tiffin, but was so drunk that he could not eat it. This happened almost every weekend. At 8 p.m., he had dinner with us and then played the gramophone until 10.15 p.m. I asked him to stop making such a noise but he asked why he should do so. Later, he wanted to go out but my elder son reasoned with him and finally, he went to sleep."

The Coroner: How long had this been going on?

Mrs. Roylance: For some time. Last year he was worse than he was this year. In fact, he was better the month before he died.

What was his financial position?

—His salary was £240 per annum. He gave me $300 to $400 a month. When I got married I had some money of my own.

Have you ever had any trouble about money?—He used to borrow the money from me and never pay it back. He said he wanted it to pay off his debts.

In answer to the Coroner, witness said:

"My husband left me in July, 1934, and in March of this year, the first time he was away."

ST. ANDREW'S VICAR

REV. AND MRS. HIGGS GOING ON SHORT HOLIDAY

The Rev. J. R. Higgs, Vicar of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, and Mrs. Higgs, are leaving the Colony on holiday from August 9 to September 6.

During the absence of the Vicar, the Rev. C.B.R. Sargent, Headmaster of the Diocesan Boys' School, has kindly agreed to be in charge of the parish, though the Vicar wishes him only to be available for anything that cannot possibly be left over until his return.

The Rev. Mr. Sargent will take all services, and preach on August 11 and 18, except the evening service of August 18 when St. Andrew's will have the pleasure of listening to the Rev. F. N. Chamberlain, B.A., C.F.

On the following Sundays, August 25 and September 1, the Rev. G. K. Carpenter, Warden of St. John's Hostel, has kindly agreed to take the services and preach.

week, when I called him back. The last time, he was away a fortnight, and came back by himself. The reason for his leaving was all through his drinking."

The Coroner: How did you get on with him when he was sober?

Mrs. Roylance: We were quite friendly, everything was then forgotten. He used to take me to the cinema (the last time was about the middle of June) and sometimes to Castle Peak (the last time was on the King's Birthday, or some holiday).

Suggested Separation

"Had you had any serious quarrels lately? About a week before he died. He was drunk on the Sunday and refused to let me eat and refused to take me to the cinema."

On the Monday, I suggested we had better separate as I was awfully nervous. He grabbed me, and as I was then cutting out with blunt scissors, I poked them into his arm. That night, I took my bed into the sitting-room. For the next few days, we did not speak, he went out every evening. We made it up about pay day when he spoke to me."

Did you return to his room after that?—No, because I always slept on the verandah in the summer time.

Mrs. Roylance said that they were married in 1914, and 1919 her husband went on his first leave without her. In 1927, he again went on leave and she went with him. He had another leave in 1932, but neither she nor the children then went with him. He left a lump sum of money for her whilst he was away.

Married While on Leave

The Coroner: What happened when he was home in 1932?

Mrs. Roylance: When he returned, he told me he had married a woman.

Did he get into any official trouble over this?—I do not know. He asked me for some money to send to her. The woman would write and ask for money and he would ask me for it. I eventually told him I could not give him any more so he told me to write to the woman. There was no more trouble after 1933.

Are you sure the trouble was definitely over then?—Yes. Whenever I saw he was depressed, I asked him if it was the woman in England, but he said that was all finished with.

According to witness, her husband often threatened to commit suicide, but only when under the influence of drink. When questioned as to the way in which he threatened to do this, witness said:

"He used to line up tins of petrol, Jeyes fluid, bay rum and lysol in front of him and declare he would kill himself with one of them."

Witness recalled that he had had his revolver taken away from him but could not remember when.

MAINTENANCE CASE

DEFENDANT UNABLE TO ANSWER SUMMONS

A summons for maintenance was brought against Mrs. Yau-fong, of 522 Shanghai Street, third floor, by his wife, Yue Mui, of 171 Tainan Street, second floor, before Mr. Thomson at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon. Owing to illness defendant could not appear, and the case was remanded until August 12, at 2.30 p.m.

In Dry Condition

Mr. C. E. R. Sanderson, of Messrs. Russ and Company, appeared on behalf of the complainant. Defendant was not legally represented.

Defendant's nephew appeared in Court yesterday and informed the Magistrate that defendant was seriously ill and in a dying condition and therefore could not appear.

Mr. Sanderson asked that the case be heard in the absence of defendant and stated that the case had been brought before the S.C.A. last year. The S.C.A. had, during that time, attempted to get hold of defendant and on each occasion the man had given the same excuse. In fairness to him, he (Mr. Sanderson) must say that the last time the S.C.A. tried to get defendant, he was really ill.

The Magistrate stated that the Court Sergeant had seen defendant and the man was really in a dying condition. Continuing, the Magistrate said that he had seen defendant and had been told that he had no money and could not afford to engage a solicitor, and asked whether the prosecution had any evidence to prove that the man had means.

In reply to this Mr. Sanderson stated that the prosecution evidence showed that defendant had means, and said that last year complainant had gone to the Po Leung Kuk and at their suggestion had signed an agreement with defendant in June in which defendant agreed to pay complainant a monthly allowance. Defendant only paid her $25 for one month.

A search had been made of the Sincere Company's register and it was found that defendant had 551 shares in that Company, which had been transferred on June 25 last year to one Mui Chan-fong. The prosecution did not know who this man was.

Further evidence of defendant's means was that he was keeping a concubine. The Magistrate informed that the prosecution would be calling evidence to show that defendant had means, and told him to warn defendant to appear in Court at the next hearing, or the case would be heard in his absence.

Mr. Sanderson stated that when the case was before the S.C.A. last year defendant was represented by a solicitor.

heard an errand boy whistling the words of a song yet." Against that argument is the fact that if the song had no words it couldn't be sung, so I think we must say that both parties are equally to blame.

As you see, it's all so simple, but writing the song is the least of the troubles, in fact, most anxious authors have already written theirs; the questions is, how to get them published?

I know of only two ways of securing a publisher's interest; one is, to lie on his doormat day after day, by which time, if he hasn't had you cleared away, your face will have become so familiar that he will think you are one of his staff, and will deign to listen to you; the other way is to take out American nationalisation papers, change your christian name to Al or Ed., and he will not only welcome you with open arms, but will beg you to accept a six months retainer fee.

Nearly all publishers have the bee in their bonnets that American songs are the only ones that should be allowed. If you asked them how many American numbers that they had taken, or had been commissioned to take by agreement, had made money, if they were truthful, they would reply only one or two; and this in spite of the fact that only the pick of American songs are published over here.

If you followed this up by asking them upon what were their business-houses founded, in almost every case they would have to answer "British songs." But, bless you, this wouldn't make them alter their tactics, because their greatest interests are broadcasting and dance bands, and if the public like a tune they don't care if it was written by a red-headed Chinese in the middle of the Sahara.

But allowing that your song has been accepted, and that it is a natural success, and that song sails lightly over the ether—that it is the plum number of every dance band—that principal boys sing it to principal girls in pantomime until comedians parody it, which, incidentally, is the height of humor; then, and then only, will you feel that you have achieved something; and three months later, when in your new dress suit, you are introduced to the one girl you want to meet, as the writer of so and so, she will reply—"Oh, did you write that old thing?" you will wonder whether after all it has been worth while.

MCCORKELL AGAIN TO RESCUE

SAVES HAMPSHIRE FROM DEFEAT

A GREAT FEAT BY C. F. WALTERS

London, Aug. 2. Batemen held the upper hand at Liverpool where Lancashire met Hampshire, the match ending in a draw in favour of the champion county who rattled up a first innings total of 472 runs for four wickets to take five of the points for the match.

The champions were ably served by Hopwood, the Test player, and Oldfield, from the second team. The former scored 104 of the 472 runs put on by Lancashire for four wickets and declared while Oldfield made 101 and was still not out when the closure was applied to the innings.

Hampshire replied with a score of 175, Hopwood, who headed the bowling averages for the county last season, showing his best form by taking five for 24.

However, McCorkell saved Hampshire from defeat when he compiled 145 runs without losing his wicket. In McCorkell's Hampshire have found, not only a safe wicket-keeper, but also a sound promising opening batsman who has been scoring runs fairly consistently during the season. When stumps were drawn Hampshire had made 317 for three wickets.

WALTERS SHOWS FORM
C. F. Walters, the Worcestershire batsman and England cricketer, performed a brilliant feat for his county and had the misfortune not to score a century in each innings against Kent at Worcester where the visitors won on first innings.

Leslie Ames showed a return to form and scored 118 runs for Kent in their first innings which realised 430. Todd also topped the century mark, contributing 104 without losing his wicket.

Worcestershire, thanks to Walters and Martin, replied with a score of 315. The former made 118 and the latter 103.

Kent declared their second innings closed at 204 for nine wickets, Howarth taking five for 70.

Walters again mastered the bowling in the second innings but failed to reach the century mark by six runs. The side had 205 for two wickets when stumps were drawn.

Derbyshire beat Sussex at Hove by five wickets, after dismissing their opponents for 194 and 244. In their second innings James Langridge scored 106 and Copson, the fast bowler, had six wickets for 42 runs.

Derbyshire scored 213, of which Worthington made 91 while J. Cornford took seven for 70, and then, in their second innings, 227 for five wickets.

WIN FOR NOTTS
Nottingham had no difficulty in beating Leicestershire by an innings and 37 runs at Trent Bridge.

Leicestershire, given first use of the wicket, collapsed before Larwood who took 5 wickets for 53, and were out for 170.

Nottingham then proceeded to knock up 403 for five wickets, and then declared.

Von Cramm To Go On World Tour Soon

TO AMERICA AND AUSTRALIA

New York, July 24. G. Von Cramm, Germany's leading lawn tennis player, has been invited to compete in the American championships, according to an announcement made in Berlin.

It is thought that Von Cramm may go to the United States and also to Australia and Chile in the autumn.

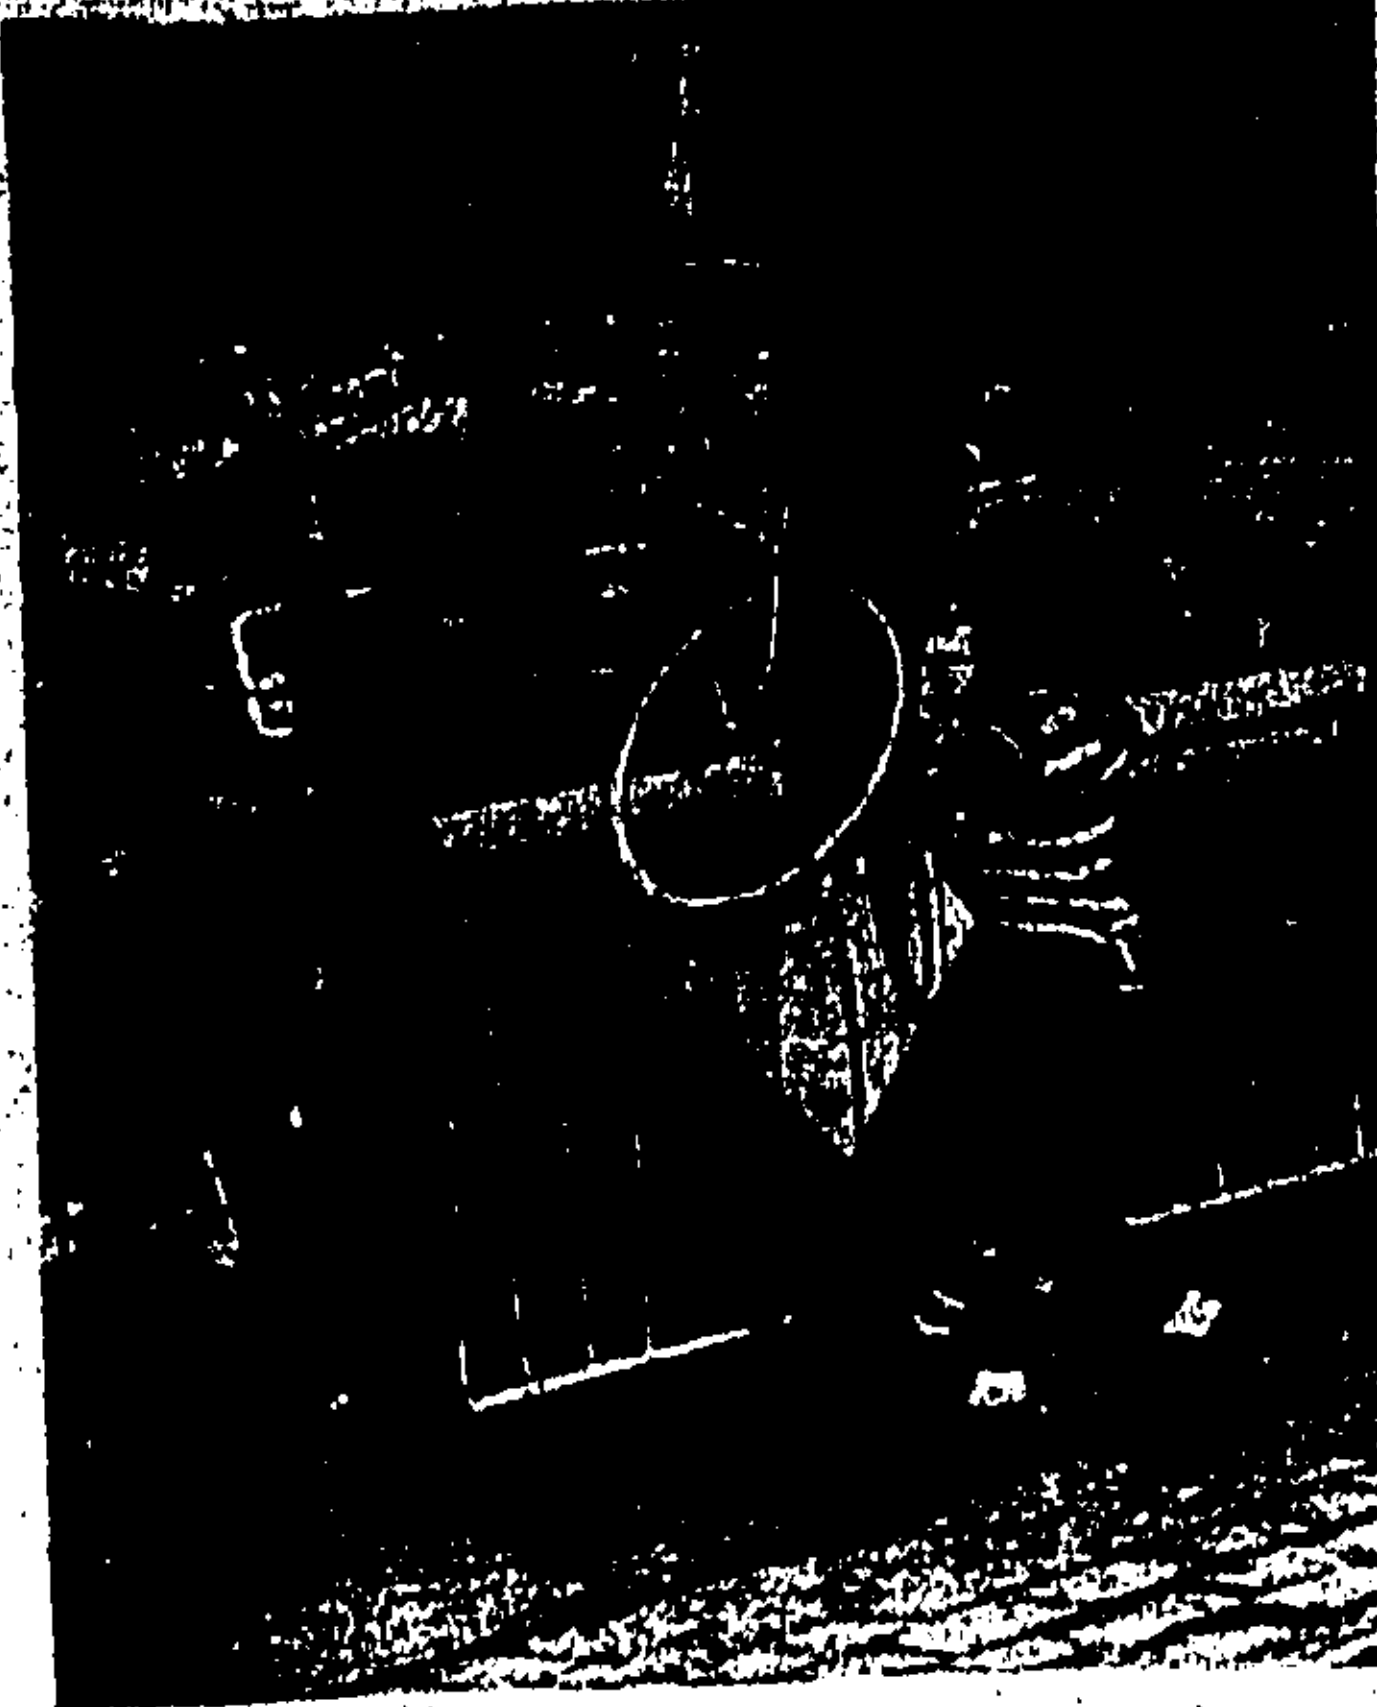

Keeton made 184, not out. Batting a second time Leicestershire did not fare any better being dismissed for 190; this time it was Voce who took most of the damage, claiming 5 wickets for 93.

Middlesex beat Somerset by nine wickets at Taunton. Somerset taking first innings against Middlesex fared badly before the wiles of Sims, and were all out for 117, the slow bowler taking 6 for 41.

Middlesex replied with 255, of which Henderson contributed 114. Wellard did well for the Westerners, getting 6 wickets for 91.

Somerset did better in their second innings and made 234, Owen Smith taking six of their wickets for 72 runs.

Middlesex knocked off the 97 required, for the loss of one wicket. Reuter.

LONDON BOXER'S SUCCESS

KING BEATS LEN BENYON

GEORGE DALY WINS

London, July 9. George Daly, the London boxer, qualified for the final of the light-weight championship eliminating tournament at Liverpool last night when he beat Jimmy Walsh, of Chester, on points.

In the early rounds the exchanges were even, but Walsh slowly edged his opponent down with well-placed body punches. Both men were cautioned in the fifth round for using their heads in the clinches.

Daly went to the floor in the seventh round from a left-hand punch by Walsh, but after that he boxed cleverly against a slower-thinking opponent. Walsh's form was disappointing and he was frequently beaten to the punch.

In the thirteenth round Walsh went down for a moment from a right-hand punch and in the last round he was down for one second, following a heavy right to the body, but the referee gave Daly the decision almost as soon as the men had broken from the last clinch.

Daly will meet the winner of the other semi-final, which will be fought at the same place next Monday, between Frankie Brown (Liverpool) and Seaman Watson (Newcastle).

Len Benyon (Swansea) retired in the sixth round of his contest with Johnny King (Manchester), who British heavyweight champion last night at the Vetch Field, Swansea.

King opened promisingly and carried the fight to his man with brilliant two-handed work. From the third round King was seen to miss frequently, many of his punches being very short.

In the sixth round King dashed from his corner with a beautiful right to the jaw and stunned Benyon, who looked out on his feet, but he struggled up at the count of 8. The referee, however, intervened.

Johnny Peters (Battersea) defeated Danny Thomas (Swansea) on points over eight rounds.

Charlie Chamberlain (Stepney), the former North-East Division light-weight boxing champion, made a successful debut as a professional at the Stadium Club last night, when he knocked out Billy Chilton (Kentish Town) in the third round. In contests over 12 rounds Jesse Rocks (Newcastle) outpointed Fred Carr (Stepney), and Buster Bloomfield (Bethnal Green) beat Jim Bloomfield (Westbourne Park) in 10 rounds.

Jackie Brown (Manchester) will defend his world fly-weight title against Benny Lynch (Glasgow) on September 3 at Belle Vue, Manchester.

The amount involved is the highest in any contest staged by the management of the hall and establishes a European record for a fly-weight bout. Brown's share will be £2,850. Lynch will receive £260.

JEWS AND THE BERLIN OLYMPIAD

WITHDRAWAL OF AMERICA

DIVERGENCE OF OPINION

Berlin, July 26. Nazi leaders are preparing a law providing prosecution for marriages between Jews and Gentiles and are also planning to exclude Jewish athletes from Germany's 1936 Olympic team.

The reportedly imminent action comes in the face of threats from several nations, including the United States, that they will not participate in the Berlin games if discrimination against Jews is shown.

Judge Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the A.A.U. of the United States said yesterday that he favoured America's withdrawal from the games if reports of persecutions of Jews and Catholics in Germany are confirmed.

In view of the large delegation which the United States presents in each world Olympiad, withdrawal of the Americans would amount to a tremendous blow at the likely success of the affair.

The American Olympic Committee which accepted Germany's offer to participate in the Berlin games, accepted only after it had been assured no discrimination would be shown against Jew athletes.

ANOTHER VIEW

Chicago, July 26. The possibility that the United States might refuse to take part in the 1936 Olympic games at Berlin because of Jews was strongly minimized here today by Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee.

Brundage said he knew of no racial or religious reasons why the United States would not be represented.

"In any case Germany has nothing whatsoever to do with the management of the games," said he. "Germany provides the facilities and makes preliminary arrangements and that is all."

"Every individual sport is under the full and complete control of the international Olympic federation, and the entire enterprise is under the sole jurisdiction of the federation."

Brundage added that it was "quite impossible to have a change of venue at present, even if desired."

The Olympic committee head took issue with Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, who previously had said there would be a vote against American participation at Berlin if current charges of discrimination against races and religion were substantiated.

At Berlin meanwhile it was learned that no German Jew will take part in the games and there were charges of discrimination by the Nazi sports leaders.

The latter declared the fact no Jew was selected was due to the "incompetence" of the Jewish athletes, and pointed out that Jews took part in the first tests to select the German Olympic team but that none survived.

Jews said they were considering complete dissolution of the Jewish sports club, a leading organization which has 800 members. Associated Press.

BRADDOCK WANTS TO MEET LOUIS

MILLION-DOLLAR FIGHT

WORLD CHAMPION AFTER "GATE"

New York, July 27. If Jimmy Braddock has his way, Joe Louis will get the first whack at his newly-won title. The champion believes that a Braddock-Louis fight next summer would draw the nearest thing to a million dollar "gate" since the days of Tex Rickard and Jack Dempsey.

Joe Gould, Braddock's busy little manager, said: "Million dollar gates are what Braddock and Co. Ltd., are interested in."

Both Gould and Braddock consider that Louis will knock out Max Schmelling in September, and repeat the performance in October with Max Baer, thus clearing the decks for a "natural" fight between the champion and the negro.

At the moment Braddock and Gould are enjoying the delightful experience of raking in money from all directions. "We will make $400,000 within the next twelve months without pulling on a glove, so why fight. Anyway, New York has two big heavyweight fights this year and may get two more. That's enough," said Gould.

Braddock is now rehearsing a skit in which he will co-star with his pretty young wife, on the vaudeville stage shortly. He has been sought for exhibition, paid thousands for endorsements and now there is talk of a Hollywood engagement for him.

Gould does not intend that Braddock shall lay off from training very long. He says he will make the champion do plenty of fighting in gymnasiums after another month, against the hardest, toughest sparring partners he can find for him.

"HAT TRICK" FOR LEYLAND

Performs Feat For First Time In Career

The high light of a remarkable day's play in the cricket match between Yorkshire and Surrey at Sheffield last month was a hat-trick by Leyland, who brought the Surrey innings to a dramatic close by taking the wickets of Watts, Brooks and Gover with successive deliveries. This is the first time he has achieved the feat.

Leyland had led up to it by disposing of E. R. T. Holmes and H. M. Garland-Wells just before the tea interval. Watts then joined Whitfield and Leyland hit his leg stump. Brooks was out l.b.w. under the new rule, while the next delivery struck Gover's leg stump.

Windsor Juniors were out for three runs.

INTERNATIONAL CRISIS

DUE TO DEFEAT OF CARNERA

PROFESSOR'S VIEWS

Boston, July 28. Fear that the recent defeat of Primo Carnera by Joe Louis might prompt Mussolini to take further steps against Abyssinia, was expressed by Professor Raymond W. Logan, a negro teacher at Atlanta University.

Professor Logan, who came up from the South to address the Fourth Annual New England Institute of International Relations at Wellesley College, near here, decried nationalism and denounced the policy toward Abyssinia.

"I am afraid that the defeat of Primo Carnera by Joe Louis will be interpreted as an additional insult to the Italian flag, which will permit Mussolini to assert again the necessity for Italy to annihilate Abyssinia," he said.

SELECTION OF THE INTERPORT TEAM

Will Too Many Skips in a Rink Weaken Side?

(By "Sagax")

To assume the role of a self-appointed "Selection Committee" for the specific purpose of expressing one's honest opinion as to what will constitute the best available rinks for the forthcoming Lawn Bowls interport is but to invite disagreement and criticism.

I have been confronted with other views—views which are not in entire accord with my own, but having nominated what, to my mind, are the three strongest rinks for the interport, I will endeavour to justify my selection.

The other day I was told that there are no less than nine skips in the three rinks and, therefore, there was much room for improvement in their composition. There has always been a fallacy that too many skips spoil a rink. With this view I agree up to a point; but only up to a point. It has been argued that too many skips are disadvantageous to the composition of a rink but is this due to the more common contention that skips are only drivers or heavy drawing players and are incapable of drawing to a jack, which is the essential requirement of a lead or a No. 2? I think not.

When it was pointed out that nine of my selected players were skips the argument was based on these lines but I imagine that not all bowlers will contribute to this fallacy, for fallacy it is.

ALL-ROUND PLAYERS

I think that the majority of skips in the Colony will at least agree with me that it is erroneous to imagine for one moment that, because more often than not a skip is required to drive or draw with a couple of pounds on, he is not capable of drawing dead to a jack.

To be a bowler a player must, or at least should, be efficient at each and every department of the game and skips above all should be equally adept at driving as at drawing. Therefore, a skip should be capable of occupying any position with equal facility and it is my contention that the skips I have included in the three rinks are players who are capable of filling the positions allocated with distinction.

A glance at the list of Singles champions of the Colony will readily confirm my argument as it will be seen that nearly every champion of the Colony has had a skip and who will be so brave as to suggest that these champions won their titles without possessing the ability to draw to a jack?

It is in this respect that I disagree with those who claim that too many skips spoil a rink, but I must confess that with too many skips in a rink there is the danger of each holding different views as to what shot should be played.

It was seen on several occasions in the local championships, particularly in the Pairs event, that the players, both of them skips, held different views as to what shot should be played.

This is the strongest and possibly only argument against the inclusion of too many skips in a rink but if the players realise that there can be only one skip to the rink then I think skips occupying the lead or No. 2 positions will not upset the equilibrium of a quartette.

INTERPORTER DROPPED

I notice that R. P. Phillips, the Interporter, has again been left out of the Kowloon Cricket Club team for this afternoon. Last week when his name was missing from the list I imagined that he was ill but I am given to understand that the selection committee of the club has seen fit to drop him. True Phillips has not been playing as well this season as in the days when he represented Shanghai, three times against Hongkong and twice against Hankow, but it does seem strange that he should be dropped by a club which is in need of players.

The Kowloon C.C. selection committee apparently subscribes to the view that a skip cannot play in any other position and because Phillips has not shown his best form as a skip he has been dropped. Hongkong's first introduction to Phillips was as skip in 1925 but four years later he played with success as No. 1 to "Sandy" Malcolm's rink and he occupied that position for the greater number of games in Hongkong. If he were not a registered player for the Kowloon C.C. I am sure the Civil Service would welcome his return to them.

WOMEN AT CRICKET

AN AUSTRALIAN TOUR

MATCH AT THE OVAL

(By MARJORIE POLLARD)

Two things of great importance have emerged from the game at the Oval of June 15—the Touring Team v. the Rest of England—when there were torrential rains, lakes and mud.

When all expenses were paid—and they were heavy—the profit on the gate was £119. One can but conjecture what might have been the case had the day been fine and encouraging.

The other matter concerns the visit of the Australian women's team in 1937. The Surrey C.C. have permitted the W.C.A. to use the Oval for the last game of three between Australia and England. The game will be played on July 10, 11 and 12.

The Australians will be with us during June and July. Three matches of three days each will be played against England, matches of two days against North, West, East, South and Midlands, and single day games with counties.

TIME TO ORGANISE

The Essex ground at Chelmsford has been offered and accepted, and it is expected that this will be used for the match against the East. 1937 seems a good year off, but the organisers must take time by the forelock.

The New South Wales Women's Cricket Association has sent £25 to the W.C.A. to be used for the benefit of cricket in England. Such a gesture shows what a grand spirit exists between the cricket players in this country and Australia.

but now we see one of the keenest bowlers in the Colony as a spectator.

THE INTERPORT

Shanghai has formally acknowledged receipt of the Hongkong arrangements for the Interport and a letter to the Hon. Secretary of the Association intimates that a meeting was fixed for last Tuesday when the matter would be discussed. Immediately the Northerners discuss the arrangements and come to a decision a reply will be sent to the Colony for confirmation of dates, etc.

COMMENTS ON RYDER CUP TEAM

MAKINGS OF A GREAT SIDE

PLAYERS FOR THE UNITED STATES

(By VAGRANT)

Eight names of players selected for the British Ryder Cup Team to meet the U.S.A. at Ridgemoor, New Jersey, were announced yesterday, and of these C. A. Whitcombe has been appointed captain. His nomination will be universally popular with all his fellow professionals and all who know the sterling quality of the man. He succeeded J. H. Taylor who, in 1933, as non-playing captain, admirably filled the arduous post.

From the side who served us so well in the last tremendous match at Southport and Ainsdale, C. A. Whitcombe, A. H. Padgham, Percy Alliss, and A. Perry, who played only in the foursomes, remain. Also Mitchell, A. J. Lacey, W. H. Davies, Arthur Havers, Allan Dailey, Syd Easterbrook have been replaced. Two other names, at least, will be announced later, though only eight players take part in each series, singles and foursomes. Those two names will intrigue the unofficial selectors.

W. J. Branch has followed up his fine showing in the Open, seventh with 294, by winning the Belgian Championship from a field including A. Perry, Henry Cotton, and Padgham. At Southport in 1933 saving the day for Britain by beating Danny Shute on the last green, was surely cause for the selectors to think. And what of Bert Gadd, who finished at Muirfield with two 71's? A courageous player if ever there was one.

Of those selected C. A. Whitcombe, Alliss, Padgham, and the Open champion, A. Perry, were certain selections; four great players to give a fine lead to a side chosen by a committee who, with commendable courage, have made their selections from players who have shown themselves to be playing at the top of their form during the current season.

R. Burton, aged 25, tied with Henry Cotton for second place at Southport and played brilliantly in the earlier stages at Muirfield. J. J. Bussan, 27, is the present match play champion by virtue of winning the News of the World tournament last year. W. J. Cox, 26, assistant to Fred Robson at Addington, is an impetuous match player of tremendous promise, strongly built, a long hitter and a thinker. E. W. Jarman, 28, was fifth at Southport, but finished a long way down in the Open. Nevertheless, he has shown glimpses of outstanding capability.

It has all the makings of a great side, with experience leading youth, that may serve us well for years to come.

The draw for the competition will be held later.

presence around the course. He covered the course, which was absolutely unknown to him, in sixty-eight strokes, two under par. His partner, Teichiro Toda of the Hiroto Golf Club at Kobe, also broke par with 69. Their best ball was a sixty-four.

Neither of them is taller than a full-sized golf bag.

The Japanese, while obviously unable to be long drivers, were deadly with their approaches and putting. Time and again the crowd gasped as beautiful approaches of 150 yards or more dropped within easy putting distance.

JOYCE WETHERED BEATEN

BY AN AMERICAN PLAYER

LOSES TO A MAN

New York, July 24. Sam Parks, the New American Open Champion, beat Miss Joyce Wethered, the English player, by four and two in an exhibition match at Cambridge Springs, Pennsylvania.

After holding Parks level for eleven holes, Miss Wethered began to wilt under the hot sun which snapped her strength towards the finish.

Miss Wethered thrilled the gallery of a thousand when she hit the pin from her tee shot at the 185-yard third hole. The ball hung on the lip of the hole.

Parks benefited by his longer driving over the rain-soaked turf. Miss Wethered's putting was erratic but her iron play was excellent.

The respective scores were: Parks 73, Miss Wethered 80.

BIG FIGHT WON

10,360,000 AT WORK
IN BRITAIN

London, Aug. 2.

Britain's great five-year fight to bring the unemployment total below the 2,000,000 mark is won.

It is authoritatively learned that when the monthly unemployed figures are published on Tuesday next they will show the total to be well under the two million, which has been exceeded since 1930.

Since the beginning of the year,
when the figure stood at 2,325,373,
Britain has made valiant efforts to reduce the number of its workless.

At the end of last month the unemployed totalled the tantalising figure of 2,000,110. The small surplus of 110—fewer than the number of people carried by one London Underground car in the rush hours.

During the month of June unemployment fell 44,642. In some areas it fell with a rush.

In Scotland there were 18,254 fewer workless, in south-western counties 14,182, north-western counties 11,937, south-eastern 11-
475, London 8,074 and in Wales
5,040.

The midlands, after a busy spurt in the spring, showed a slight variation with 832 more unemployed.

The "Black Spot"

The "black spot" remains in the north-east. Here, at the commencement of last month, the unemployed figures has risen by 23,483.

While the unemployed total is falling, the number of insured workers in employment is rising.

In fact, the total insured working population at the beginning of July was 10,361,000, an improvement of 188,000 in twelve months, and the highest figure recorded since these records started fourteen years ago.

Industries and trades which are contributing most to the fall in workless during past weeks are the distributive trades, hotel and boarding house services, shipping, public works contracts, road transport, shipbuilding, engineering, dock and harbour service, iron and steel manufacture and electrical cable making.

During this time of the year,

IMMACULATE—and WHY?

Because she has established the "ODORONO habit." Perspiration in the small area of the underarm is a problem she has completely controlled.
There is never the slightest hint of perspiration odour about her, and never a suspicion of a stained arm-hole on her clothing.

ODORONO is a doctor's prescription. It is made in two strengths, both with applicator. ODORONO Regular, used at night on retiring, its protection lasts from three to seven days. Instant ODORONO is for people with sensitive skin, or for quick use. Must be used more often, protects for one to three days.

FAGGED OUT THROUGH HEAT

NOTHING is more enervating than humidity, excessive heat and sun glare, which seriously saps the human vitality. Such a strain on the nervous system weakens the powers of resistance, resulting in headaches, conditions of lassitude, nervousness, debility, etc. During hot trying periods 'ASPRO' can prove invaluable, particularly due to the fact that after ingestion in the system it promotes skin action and poison elimination through the pores—the natural function of the body. Furthermore,
'ASPRO' quiets and soothes the nerves and is the ideal medicine for minor complaints during sweltering hot weather conditions and heat waves.

'ASPRO' IS INVALUABLE ON HOT TRYING DAYS

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

By clever play after correctly reading the closed hands, the declarer in to-day's hand makes his contract doubled.

NORTH
S-K-10-3
H-10-2
D-J-8-5
C-A-9-8
EAST
S-8-6
H-3-2
D-10-7
C-4-5
SOUTH—DEALER
S-Q-7
H-A-10-9-8
D-8-5-4
C-8-5-3

The Bidding
At contract, South, the dealer, opened the bidding with one heart. West has the required strength for an informative double. North, with one and one-half trump in his hand, but not normal support for hearts, goes on no trump. East gladly passed. South now goes two hearts, showing a five-card heart suit. West passed. North went to two no trump. South carried it to three no trump which West doubled.

The Play
East's only four-card suit is his spades, so the dealer of spades is opened, dummy plays the seven. West wins with the ace, although perhaps his better play would have been to go in with the ten, but it still will not stop game. Declarer plays the three. West returns the ten of spades, North, the declarer, plays the nine, East the five and the dummy wins the trick with the queen.

As most of the missing high cards are spotted in the West hand due to the double the dummy's next lead is the six of hearts. West plays the four, declarer winning the trick with the ten. Declarer now leads the king of spades, discarding the six of diamonds from dummy and stripping the West hand of its last spade. The deuce of hearts is next led which the declarer wins in the dummy with the ace. The dummy then returns the queen of hearts and West is forced to win with the king; declarer now discarding a small diamond.

West is now in a bad situation for a lead, but selects the deuce of clubs, his fourth best club, declarer plays the eight, East the jack and the dummy wins with the queen. The declarer now cashes his two good hearts in dummy, West discarding the four of clubs and four of diamonds, declarer discarding the five and nine of diamonds. Dummy now leads a small club, West plays the ten and declarer wins the trick with the ace and then leads his good jack of spades and grants West the last two tricks.

It is interesting to play this hand out if West goes in with the ten of spades. The declarer can still go game. As neither side were vulnerable, the declarer would score 210 for tricks, 50 for making his contract. In rubber bridge there would be no game bonus, while in progressive or duplicate bridge he would receive a game bonus of 800 points for a total of 560 points.

TIENTSIN HARD UP
NO REMITTANCE FOR NANKING GOVERNMENT
Nanking, Aug. 2.
Owing to financial stringency the Tientsin Municipal Government has informed the Executive Yuan that it is unable to remit its share of revenue to the Yuan. The remittance stopped by the Hopt Administration in the 24th fiscal year when the Tientsin Municipality was still under the Provincial Government. Notification has been filed with the Executive Yuan.—Central News Agency.

represent a particular constituency.
NO SOLUTION YET
Other suggestions for meeting the difficulty have been advanced and criticised by authorities on constitutional questions, but it revealed in a letter from the Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, to Mr. Lloyd George, published yesterday, that enquiries he has made show that none of the suggestions considered by the Government would be generally acceptable in Parliamentary circles.
Mr. Lloyd George had written to the Premier, as "Father of the House of Commons," to offer his services in solving the difficulty and maintaining the authority of the chair which "constitutes an essential part of the prestige won and maintained by the British Parliament."
Mr. Baldwin replied with suggestion that, in the circumstances, if the Speaker were opposed, leading members of the House, without distinction of party, might visit his constituency and appeal for his return, and announced that he and Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and Sir John Simon, as representatives of the three parties in the National Government, were prepared to do this. Sir Herbert Samuel, for the Liberal Party, has subsequently signified his willingness to do likewise.

COMPROMISE HOPE
Mr. George Lansbury, Leader of the Parliamentary Labour Party, has now issued a statement further explaining the reasons for the action of the local Labour Party, and emphasising the respect of the Labour Party for the dignity of the Speaker's high office.
Both Lansbury and the Prime Minister have emphasised that the question is not a party one, nor between any Government or any Opposition, and there is a hope in political circles that the characteristic British spirit of compromise will afford a solution before a General Election makes the matter urgent.—British Wireless.

INDIAN EMPIRE WELFARE
FINAL APPROVAL OF HISTORIC ACT
TREMENDOUS LABOUR
London, Aug. 2.
The Government of India Bill became an Act to-day when it received the Royal assent in the House of Lords.
Many members of the House of Commons attended at the bar to witness the historic scene. Preparation for passing of the measure has occupied nearly eight years.
Publication of the report of the Simon Commission in May, 1930, was followed by various sessions of the Round Table Conference and the issue of the Government White Paper March, 1933, indicating the greatest common measure of agreement reached as a result of these investigations and consultations.
The Parliamentary Joint Select Committee sat for 18 months and its recommendations in October last were largely incorporated in the bill, proceedings in connection with which have occupied 61 Parliamentary days this session.

NEARLY 500 CLAUSES
The Act consists of 478 clauses and 16 schedules occupying 455 printed pages, and it is the longest act in the history of Parliament. The Scheme of the act is to set up in the place of the present form of Government in British India, which has been described as "an essence unitary and centralised," an all-India federation linking together eleven British Indian provinces and such Indian states as are prepared to join.

Both at the Federal Centre and in the provinces the Governments will be formed of Ministers responsible to legislatures in much the same sense as the British Cabinet is responsible to the Parliament at Westminster. Three federal subjects only are reserved for administration by the Governor-General in his discretion, namely, defence, external affairs and ecclesiastical affairs.

ACT ON ADVICE
Governor-General and Provincial Governors will act on the advice of Ministers as long as to do so does not conflict with certain special responsibilities laid upon them relating to such matters as prevention of any grave menace to civil peace and the safeguarding of minority interests and financial stability.
Burma is separated from India and given a constitution on the same general lines.
More notable amendments accepted in the course of the Bill's passage through Parliament are the reservation of six seats in the Council of States for women and the substitution of direct for indirect election to the Council of States. The Federation does not come into being without the essential prerequisite of the accession of the India states containing not less than half the total states population.
The welfare of the people of India and Burma numbering 350,000,000 is involved in the Act added to the Statute Books to-day.—British Wireless.

C.E.C. SESSION
CANTON LEADERS HOLD LENGTHY CONFERENCE
Canton, Aug. 2.
Southern leaders to-day held a lengthy conference to discuss the question of attending the sixth Central Executive Conference plenary session.
It is understood that a tentative plan has been decided upon, but that no final decision has been taken pending the return of Mr. Hsiao Fu-cheng from Siam, which is expected around the middle of the month.—Reuter.

JAPAN PROTEST
OUTER MONGOLIAN REPLY VERY UNSATISFACTORY
Changchun, Aug. 2.
The reply of the Government of Outer Mongolia to the second protest from the Kwantung Army, made in connection with the arrest and imprisonment of a Japanese Army surveyor on June 25, was received to-day.
The contents of the message will not be divulged at present, the High Command asserts.
It is authoritatively learned, however, that the reply is considered highly unsatisfactory, both by the Japanese command and the Manchukuo Foreign Office.
This is the second Japanese protest within the past few weeks. The first went out as a sequel to border clashes and the alleged violation by Mongolian patrols of the Manchukuo frontier.
Conference Failed
It was intended, following a conference at Manchukuo, between Japanese and Mongolian representatives, to arrange for the exchange of diplomats. Manchukuo's allegation that such an exchange was necessary in order to preserve the friendly relations of the two countries and that for the protection of the 2,000,000 Mongols in Manchukuo such an arrangement was desirable on the other side, was counterbalanced, according to the Japanese view, by Russian influences at work in Mongolia. The conference failed to bring a settlement.
Great Britain, it will be recalled, has been watching developments between Manchukuo and Mongolia alertly, and there have been fears expressed that the unsatisfactory frontier situation might eventually lead to Japanese action against Mongolia which would embroil Russia against Japan.—Reuter.

SHANGHAI GANGSTERS
BANK EMPLOYEES ROBBED IN BROAD DAYLIGHT
Shanghai, Aug. 2.
A broad daylight robbery occurred this morning, $1,300 in cash being stolen from three employees of the Bank of Communications.
A motor car carrying the three men and a bodyguard was forced to stop while returning to their office after collecting money from a firm in Markham Road. The driver first saw a man throw a number of bamboo poles on the road. As the car stopped, four armed men rushed up and pointed pistols at the occupants of the car.
While the gangsters were searching the men in the car a constable ran up to see what was going on, but was threatened by two more armed men who rushed out from the other side of the road. The constable was forced to give up his own pistol.
Having taken all the money on them from the employees of the bank as well as the bodyguard's pistol, the gang escaped by another car, which was seen on the left of the road before the incident.
No arrests have been made.—Wah Kin Yat Po.
